

INFRACORP is a privately owned Australian software development company focused on providing smarter solutions regarding the implementation of drawing standards for private and public sector organisations throughout Australia and Asia.

Based in Melbourne, we develop and deliver software products to our clients that operate within existing CAD software packages to increase drafting efficiency and provide consistency in drawing production.

Our most recent development has been the production of Infracad which is now available for purchasing. Infracad provides a streamlined approach for the implementation of drawing standards customised to individual company requirements via unique illustrative 'pop-up' drawing menus that operate within existing CAD packages.
